Out And About

We're growing up . . . As we break away from junior high and enter high school, we start setting new goals and standards for the years to come. We gradually start breaking away from our parents influence and start relying on our peers more than before. As we near our senior year we are again faced with breaking away; not only from our school, but many times from family and friends as well.

At Smoky Hill, we break away not only as seniors but also as underclassmen. Each year we lose and gain new friends, new classes, new happiness and new difficulties.

Although some are faced with it more than others, sometime in our lives we all must break away.

In recent years a lot has been said about the phenomenal growth of the area in which we live. Anyone who lives here now or has lived here all their lives can't ignore that fact. Waiting in line has become a way of life. But for some activities that are of interest to all of us, it's worth the wait. Bronco games, the Rolling Stones' concerts, or going to the top of the mountain on a chair lift are just a few. All these are part of being in Colorado and experiencing the mile high fever that grips all of us sooner or later. The 1981-82 school year has been a significant year for Smoky Hill and to the people of Colorado. Those of us who were seniors had a lot of thinking to do about our futures. We all had to break away from our childish dreams to become adults. We have opened new doors to new discoveries.

Purple people, garbage bag shirts, shiny buttons, unusual hats and rainbow togas were all a part of the spirit and fun during Fall Festival Week.

Each day of the week included a different fashion for students to use their imaginations by dressing Urban Cowboy, Toga, Punk, Artesian, or by wearing crazy hats, buttons and T-shirts.

Sophomores showed that they were the most high-spirited class by buying the most spirit links for the I-team program. Juniors came in second, followed by the Senior class, and, as usual, Freshmen were in last place.

Pep Assembly Gears Buffs For Victory

All right Buffs, let's get rowdy! After all isn't that what a pep assembly is for? The homecoming pep assembly held on Friday, October 9, had many more purposes. For the second year in a row, the teachers displayed their excellence in the cheerleading department. Our pom pon girls also showed us what they had. The other half of our spirit squads are the cheerleaders. They entertained us with skits. The freshmen were a little shy about accepting their award for losing in the spirit contest. On the other hand, the seniors were more than happy to accept the sophomores first place trophy. The homecoming royalty for this year were: Andy Wiggins, Duke; Laura Zempel, Duchess; Ken Stokes, Lord; Michelle Willard, Lady; Phil Jacobsen, Prince; Kim Church, Princess; Mark Fuhr, King; Heidi Zwahlen, Queen. Heidi also received an award, along with Nick Wilt, for their outstanding NMSQT scores. Chris Nelson, Todd Morton, Mike Baldwin, and Melanie Glenn also received awards for this. As usual the band played well. This year they were accompanied by a great performance by the flag and rifle corps. Truly a memorable occasion.

Sound Of Success

Applause and cheers could be heard coming from the auditorium. What was all the commotion you ask? Nothing but a terrific performance given by the Jazz Band and Swing Choir on Wednesday, October 7, during Fall Festival Week.

The Swing Choir consisted of six talented singers who enjoy the art of performing pop music. The Jazz Band is a group of fine musicians who show their class and style as they perform.

Both groups practiced long and hard hours to make sure that everything would be perfect. And the assembly was! You could tell by the sound of success!

Reflecting Firey Spirit

If you happen to have seen fire and smoke on Thursday, October 8, and were thinking that maybe Smoky Hill was burning down, better luck next time because that was the night of the bonfire.

This year's bonfire was highlighted during Fall Festival Week. That evening, the students gathered around the huge fire as the cheerleaders with their enthusiasm, gave a few cheers. The band was responsible for a lively atmosphere that night.

Coach Hiester introduced the football players later on during the event. The football players and cheerleaders threw a Trojan horse into the burning blaze to show their pride for Smoky Hill, and Dr. Eversley contributed by giving a speech.

As we watched the orange hue from the flames, we saw our pride reflecting back.

Homecoming Breaks Open New Era

Homecoming: the official beginning of the new year. For Freshmen - the beginning of a new era. For Seniors - the last rites in school. For them, it's time to start Breaking Away.

This year's Homecoming game was characterized by togetherness and spirit. Smoky Hill demonstrated this by taking a win over Central, 33 to 7. With Seniors on the team like Pat McCauley, Dean Smith, Chris Knabenshue, and Danny Schliebe, this was not a surprise.

The highlight of every Homecoming game is the crowning of the royalty. This year was no exception, with well known people chosen for the honors. The King and Queen were Mark Fuhr and Heidi Zwahlen. Phil Jacobsen and Kim Church were chosen as Prince and Princess. The Sophomore royalty were Ken Stokes and Michelle Willard, taking Duke and Duchess honors. This year the Freshmen were Lady Laura Zempel and Lord Andy Wiggins.

TOP CHRIS KNABENSHUE broke the game wide open with a touchdown pass.

Homecoming Topped by Last Chance Dance

Our 1981 Homecoming Dance held all new ingredients this year. The Student Government decided to hold the dance in Commons One and Two instead of in the gym because the atmosphere was better. Something else new was the Student Government's choice of Smoky Hill's own "One Last Chance Band" consisting of Smoky Hill seniors Mike Codero, Greg Louden, Greg Matheny, Ken Robison, and former SHHS students Terry Bartlett, Brian Matheny, and Brad Osborne. The band proved to be an excellent choice. The band felt that Smoky High gave them the break they needed. Some influential faculty members weren't sure of the professionalism of the Last Chance Band, but the band disproved them by putting on one of the most enjoyable dances that Smoky Hill has seen. Some of the more popular songs performed were "My Generation," "Gimme Three Steps," "Shattered," and "Heavy Metal." They featured such cover material as The Rolling Stones, The Who, Joe Walsh, Lynard Skynard and Dan Fogelberg, which makes their show pleasing to nearly all crowds. They contributed to this year's theme with an original song called "Reasons" which was a big success along with "Just Can't Live Without You," "Don't Turn Away," "In Her Eyes," and "Got To Get Back." Smoky Hill was willing to give the band a chance and we're sure it won't be their last.

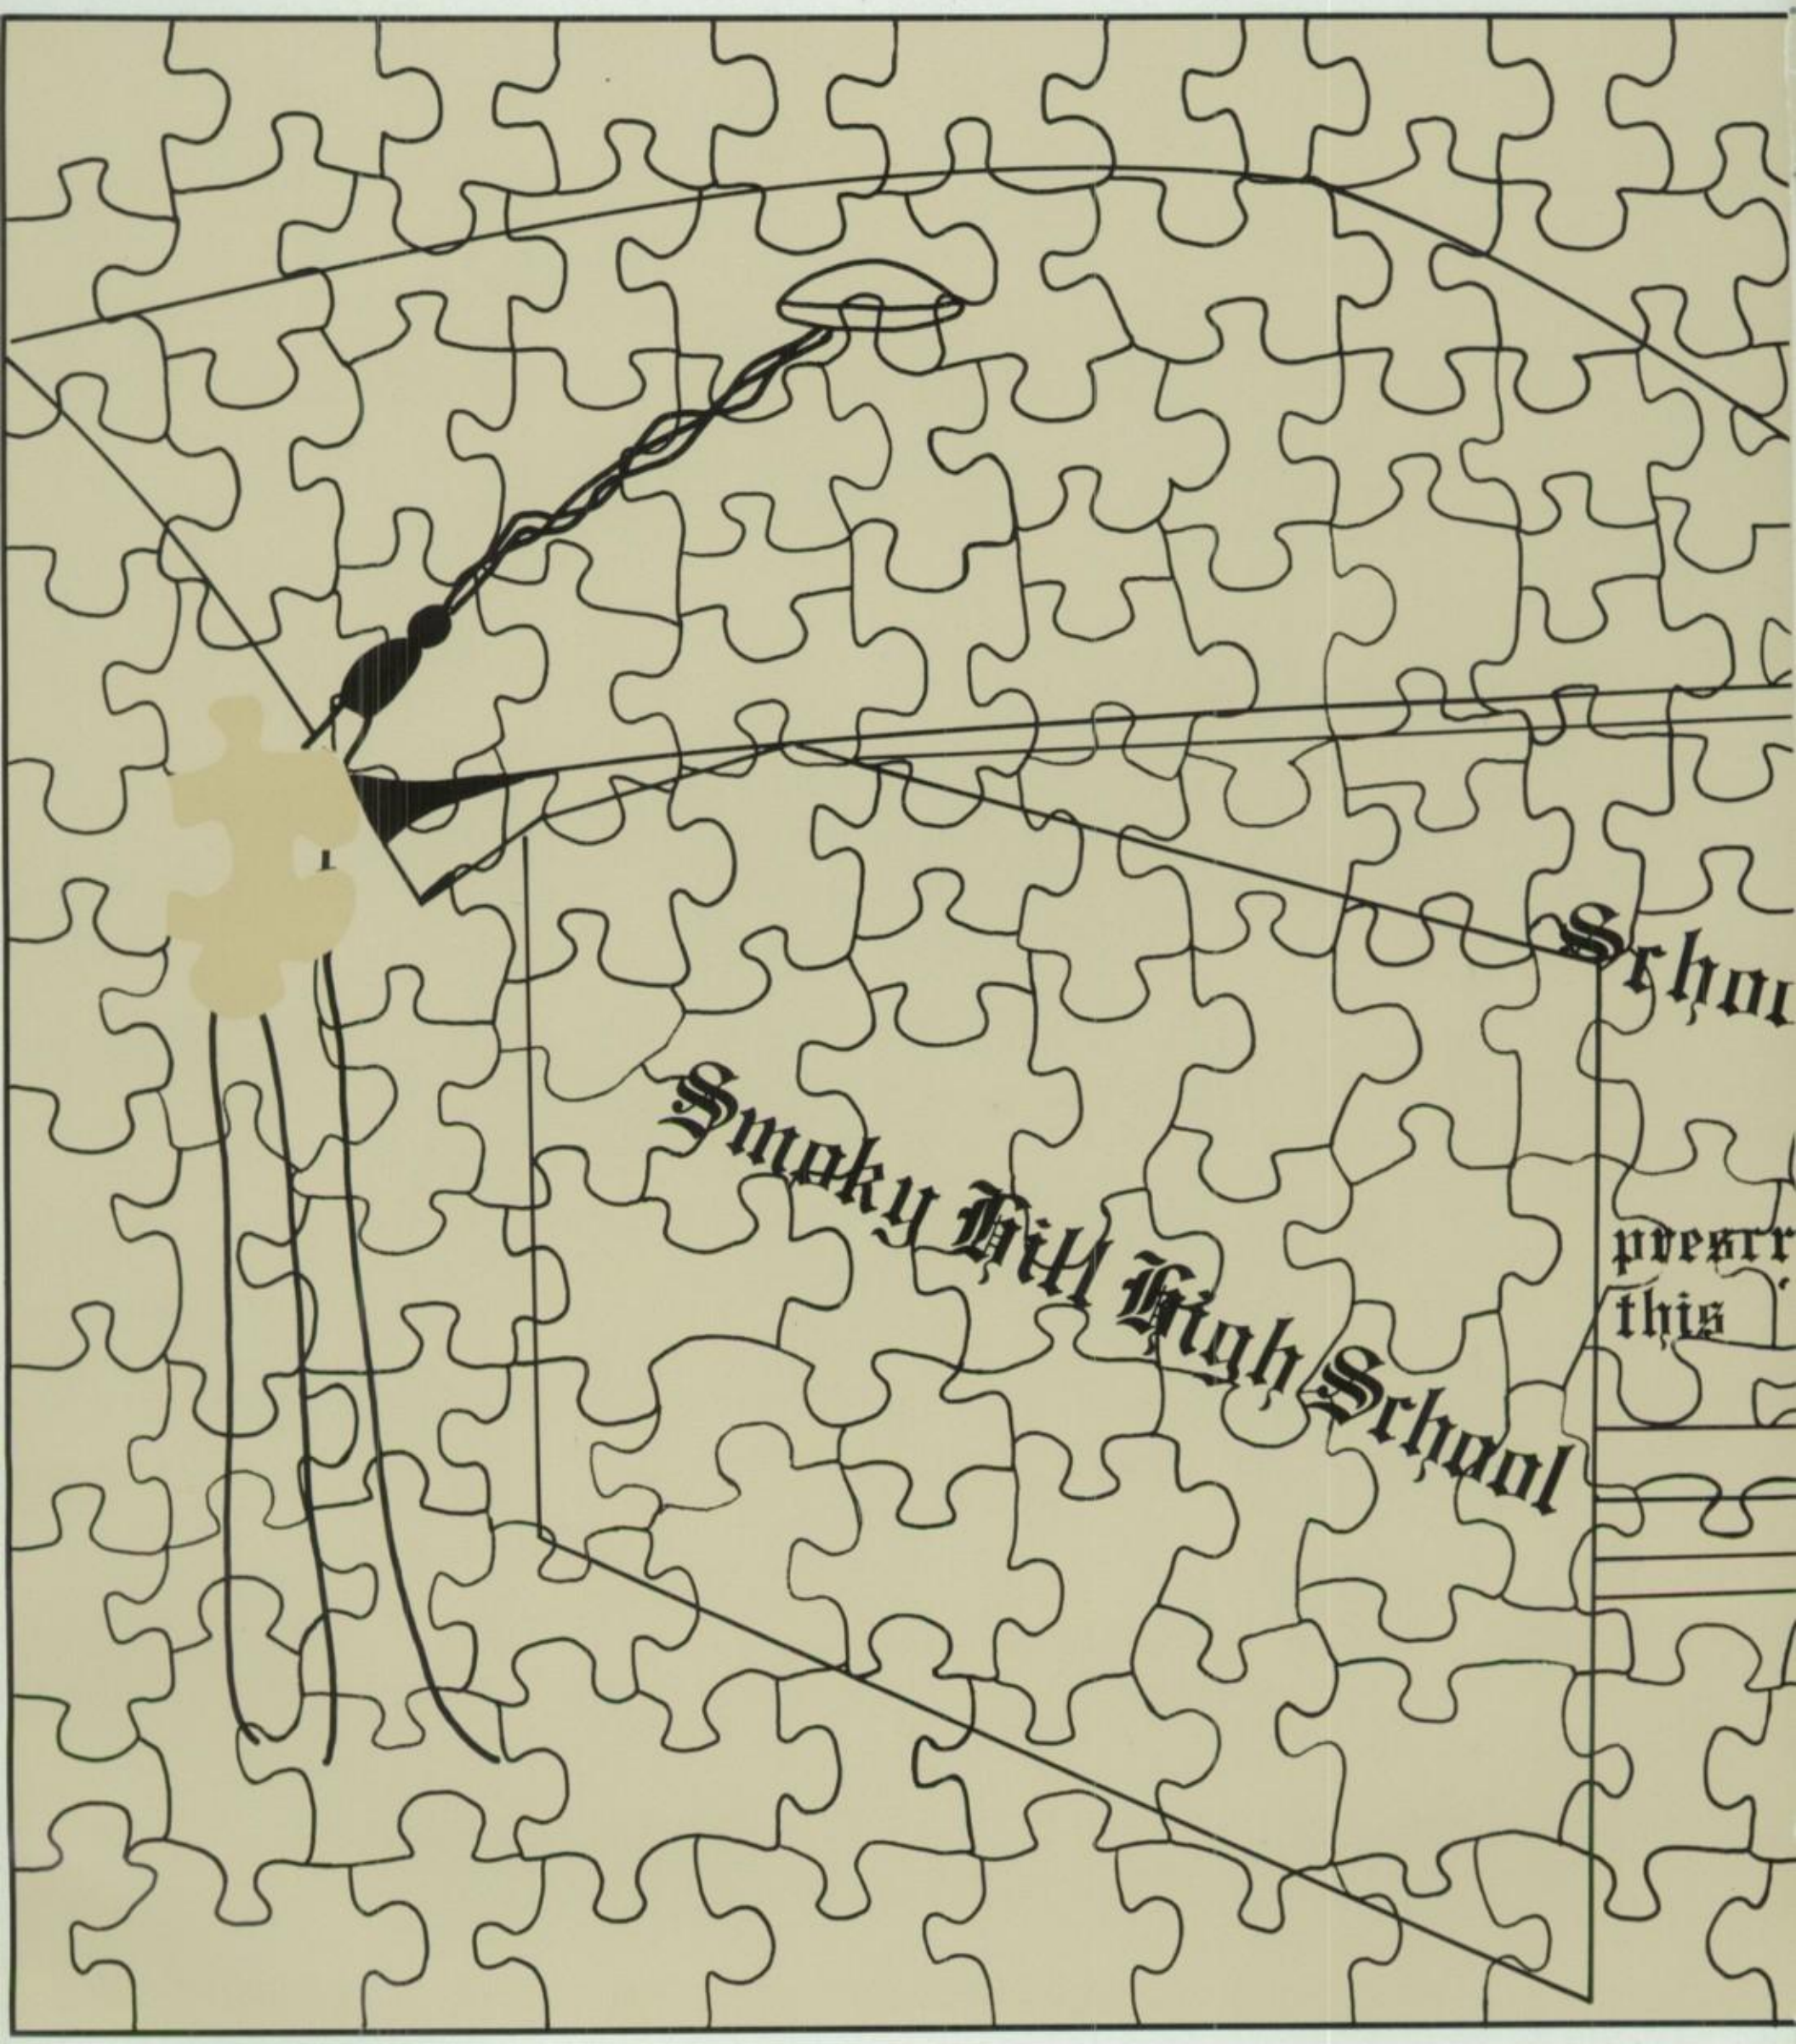
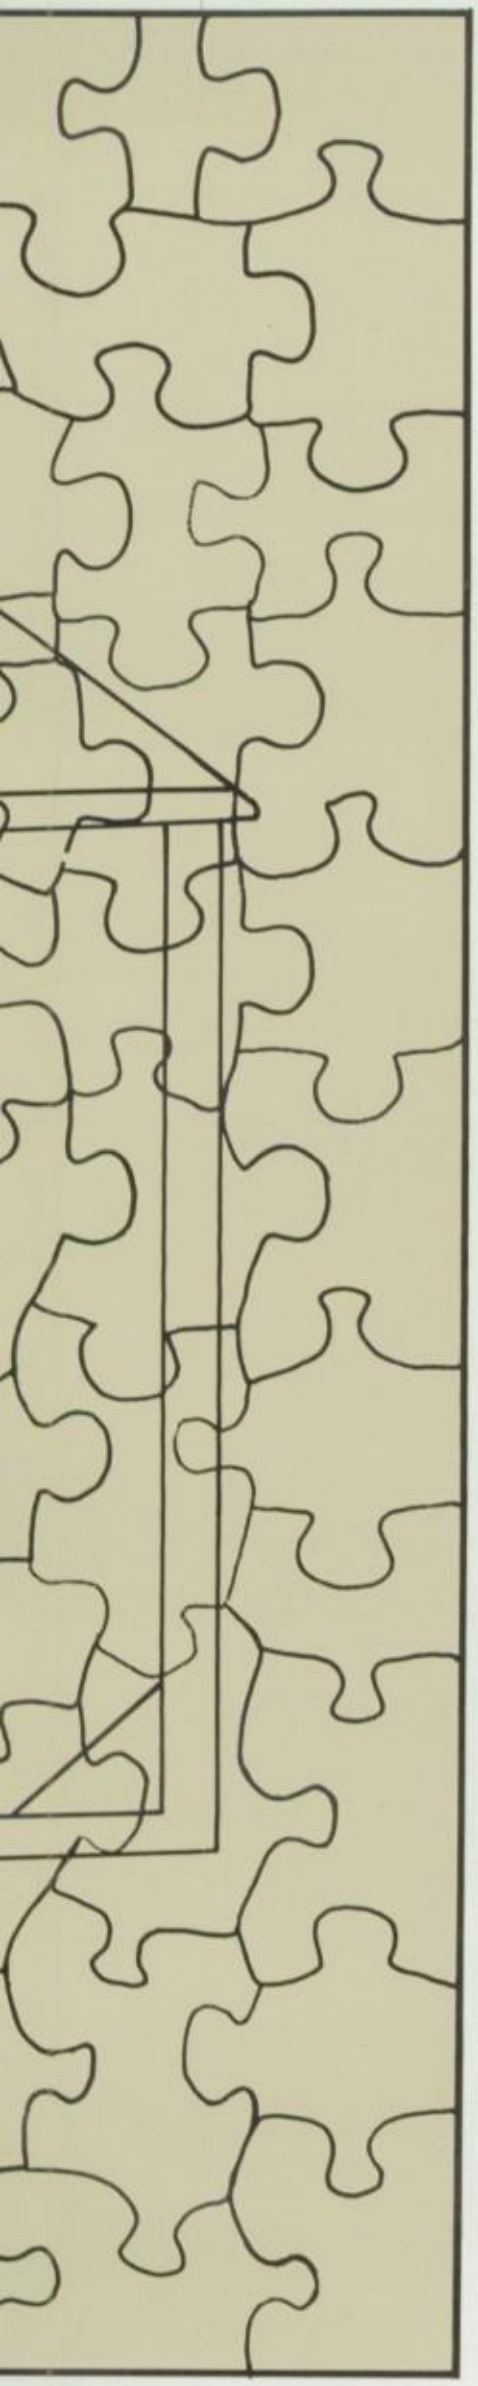
Seniors Put Pieces Together





BREAKING AWAY

Now has come the time to put to good work
what we have achieved
and over the years learned.
For so many times
we've seen the others step and now that it's our time,
we may have some regrets.
It never seemed real that our turn would come,
and throughout the years
we are proud to be one.
At first we were all strangers
but there for the same reasons;
and soon we became friends laughed and cried throughout the seasons.
There may come a time
when you want to turn back, but you've got to keep going at full speed, intact.
There's no limits for your future
you can propell yourself to anything you wish to be,
but you've got to keep pushing cause life has no guarantee.
Everybody has a reason — there's a purpose to everyone and this is our time to find it's only just begun.
Don't let your life become a compromise you'll find no peace of mind — search for ways to reach your goal life is full of time!

Baldwin: Smoky Hill Individualist

Mike Baldwin is a commended senior who worked toward perfection at Smoky Hill High School. An excellent student, Mike was enrolled in AP Physics, AP Calculus and AP Chemistry. He is going to C.U. to study Aero Space Engineering.

He was persistent in his efforts to reach many of the goals he set for himself. Not intimidated by peer pressure, Mike is a person only influenced by Mike Baldwin, but when it comes to having fun, he can still be active and maintain a good grade point average. Mike was an active member of the Smoky Hill Debate Team, and to quote Mr. Pinkerton, ''Rarely if ever gives you garbage on school-related work or even making conversation with him. He's concise, doesn't bluff and gives you the right answer.''

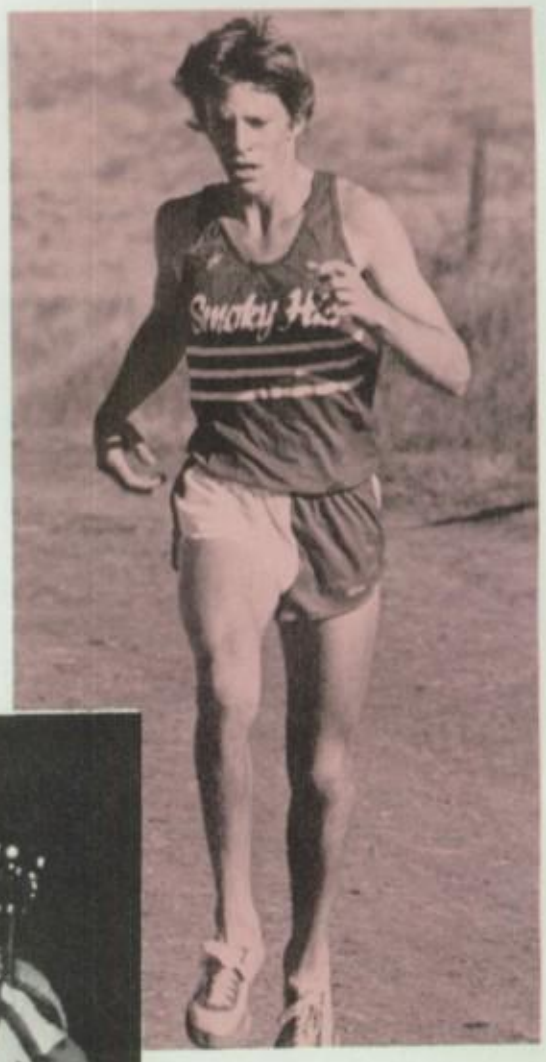
Striving For Perfection



Coming to Smoky Hill as a quiet and shy person, Karl Mimmack had kept most of his talents hidden. He is an excellent student with a fine grade point average. Besides doing well academically he has been involved in school athletics and music. He has received recognition for his abilities in track and cross country. As well as being a good runner he is also an outstanding performer in the Jazz Band and recently, has begun to sing with them as well. Karl accepted the honor of drum major for Smoky Hill's Marching Band during his senior year. Along with his already busy schedule he still found time to be involved in Peer Counseling. Future plans for Karl include attending Oregon State to study journalism and engineering.

Brian takes a break from football, strolling around school on a beautiful autumn day.

On and off the field Brian Schmitt is one tough guy, but football is his specialty. Brian's future goal is to play college football. "Football is my life. I want to go to San Diego State if possible, and continue to play linebacker and fullback."

As an individual, Brian had a great season this year. "He's a powerful leader," Coach Hiester said, "and he shows his enthusiasm. He's good in both offense and defense, and is one of the best tacklers on the varsity team."

Other than football, Brian likes many other sports like basketball, hockey, swimming, and water skiing. Brian also plans to do a lot of traveling. According to coach Hiester, "He's a leader!"

Striving For Excellence

What do Ryung Za Lee, Stephanie Kaplan, and Brad Tompkins all have in common? They are all exceptionally fine students with High G.P.A.'S.

Ryung Za has been on the Honor Roll ever since she came to Smoky Hill and has been a member of the National Honor Society. She was involved in other outside activities such as Key Club and International Buffs. Her interest in medicine has encouraged her to become a volunteer at the Aurora Presbyterian Hospital. With this experience she hopes that it will help her in her studies at C.U.

Stephanie "Stevie" Kaplan is not only an outstanding student, she is also very artistic. She is a member of the National Art Society and was selected to show her art work at Washington D.C. She understands how people feel when they have problems for she was a peer counselor. She is a member of FBLA and Ski Club too.

Together with Ryung Za and Stevie is Brad, one of Smoky Hill's go-getters. Along with being involved in choral groups, theatrical plays and the National Forensic League, he still has been able to find time for his studies. He is a hard working student who has been a member of the National Honor Society for two years. He became a state qualifier in Humorous Interpretation and is actively involved in debate. He enjoys working with people and plans to enter the field of Social Sciences at Baylor University in Texas.

Students Enjoy Another Top Year In Smoky Hill Athletics

The Competitor,
The sound of the gun
sets me on my way.
I run strong and hard
until I break away.
I hear the sounds of pounding footsteps trying to keep my pace, and in vision comes the finish line
I've almost won the race.
The competition leaves me,
only one competitor to beat,
it's either the victory of winning,
or the pain of defeat.

Buffs Suffer Disappointing Season

The Smoky Hill football team had a very frustrating season this year with a four win, six loss record which tied them for sixth place in the Centennial league with the Boulder Panthers. The team's main problem was their inexperience. This was due to the graduation of 27 seniors from the 1981 class.

Despite the overall record, the team's effort was good. The Buffs had many close games against some of their toughest opponents, two of which were Arapahoe and Gateway. The Buffs lost both games by three point margins.

The coaches this year were head coach Bob Hiester and assistant coaches Ken Carmann, Mark Cooper, Jim Luhring and Bob Ratcliff. The captains this year were Brian Schmitt and Scott Coniglio. The most valuable player was Chris Knabenshue.

Besides just having a great season, the Cross Country team accomplished something spectacular. They became the Aurora City champs by a combination of both the boys' and girls' scores. This gave the Buff stampede a first place by beating Gateway, Aurora Central and Hinkley.

Dedication, sacrifice, pain, unity, fun, confidence building, and success. These words sum up the Smoky Hill Cross Country program. Dedication means running everyday for the serious runners. Sacrifice means running when you have other responsibilities and plans. Pain comes from running!

Unity comes from a group of individuals — through hard work and desire — becoming one. Fun means playing catword games, water fighting, camp, backrubs, making up songs about Creek, bowling, winning, and being together. Confidence building comes from doing what you thought you couldn't, finishing your race with a better time, and team support — most of all, from a very special man — Coach Mike Renes.

Finally, success is derived from a repitition and a combination of all these things; along with a desire and a will strong enough to make dreams come true.

Spikers Surprise Centennial

By first beating arch rival Cherry Creek and then Overland, the girls' volleyball team advanced to the sub-district playoffs and surprised the entire league. The team this year was one of the youngest in the league, consisting of four sophomores, three juniors, and two seniors. Coach Brown contributes the success to the way the team worked as a whole.

Senior co-captains Diane Hayes and Lori Mineo led their squad to an 8-4 record, reversing last year's record. This is quite an accomplishment, considering the original goal for the season was to end up with a percentage of 500. After losing the first three matches, the turning point of the season came when the Buffs placed second in the Palmer Invitational Volleyball Tournament in Colorado Springs.

The young Buffs played well as a team, sparked by the MVP Lori Mineo, the most improved player, Lori Smith, and the most imspirational player, Pam Haug. Henry Ford once said, "Whether you think you can or think you can't, you're right." Positive thinking and strong determination helped the girls' volleyball team to become one of the top five teams in the league.

Underclassman support on the junior varsity and freshman/sophomore levels is the key to varsity success in later years. Experience and training help develop skills important for later use.

The junior varsity started out strongly, winning several of their first matches. The team was entirely made up of sophomores, except for one freshman. The girls played well together, led by Coach Patinos and co-captains Emily Martin and Theresa Dozler. Next year, these players will add depth to the varsity.

An abundance of freshmen this year produced a strong freshman/sophomore squad. The team did well, and finished near the top of the league, under the leadership of Coach Murphy. Captains Kim Kokoska and Stephanie Wawrzyniak should be strong players in the future, along with the rest of the team.

With all this talent, the Smoky Hill Volleyball teams can look forward to continued success.

Lady Buffs Show Grace and Style

Aerials, handsprings, and tucks are all a part of a gymnast's daily routine. The 1981 squad consisted of three returning senior letter women Diane Jochim, Jeannie John, and Terri Shanahan; Juniors Jodi Hoffman, Jeanette Smith; Sophomore: Kim Skelton, and freshmen Krista Alfred, Anna Cabral, Cindy Coleman, Julie Jenks, Ann Langan, Stephanie Swartwood, and Sherri Yearian.

For her second year coaching the Smoky Hill team Geri Durbin was a very dedicated coach who put a lot of time and energy into her team. Helping her out was assistant coach Bernie Francke who built up the enthusiasm and confidence of the team. Throughout the season the quality of the routines increased as the team's ability grew.

Although the girls swim team didn't have a remarkable win-loss record, some individuals had a good season.

Rhonda Rape, our All-American swimmer, ended her season as returning state champion in the 200 yard Individual Medley and she took the state championship in the 100 yard backstroke. She qualified for state in the above two events, but that was not all. She qualified in 50 free, 500 free, 100 breast, 100 fly, and the free relay. As one can see, her talent is widespread throughout the events.

Senior Mary Kehl, had a good season also. She also qualified for state in the free relay. Unfortunately, due to illness at the start of the season, Mary did not qualify in any individual events.

Ann Wilson, a sophomore, was the third member of the relay team that qualified for state.

Sherri Clark, a freshman, gave the team a boost with her swimming ability. Since she was just starting her career at Smoky Hill, it was a surprise she qualified individually. She qualified in the 100 yard fly and the free relay. Much more is expected of Sherri in years to come.

Overall, the team had its share of injuries. Robin Bell and Stephanie Klekotka, our managers, couldn't swim due to knee injuries. Minor injuries ranged from sprains to swimmer's ear.

Freshman Renee Young exhibits her feelings toward fly.

Tennis Bounces Through Season

The "81" Boys Varsity Tennis Team was a young team, consisting of only three Senior members David Craig, Glenn Houghton and Sonny Gill. Since the team was so new, they didn't have much experience and this reflected upon their 3-8 win-loss record.

Glenn Houghton was the most valuable player by achieving a 4-7 win, loss score.

The number one singles player was Pat Mooney. He will be back again next year to lead the team to a winning season.

On October 9 and 10 the district tournament was held. Smoky Hill placed 9th. Pete Tan, Sonny Gill, Mark Mills, and Todd Bowman went the furthest in the meet.

Coaches Mike Mason and Stan Hesting displayed confidence and encouraged their players throughout the tennis season.

Getting Into The Swing

The golf team for 1981 had a rather disappointing season. The team was under the direction of Coach Steve Cavnar who gave helpful hints for good golfing habits.

The team came in sixth at Pinehurst and finished ninth in the Centennial League at Adams County.

Two outstanding golfers were Kirk Cavarra, a freshman, and David Faddis who was a junior. They contributed to the team greatly. All the members played well; and the underclassmen that have gained experience this year will be a great help to next year's team.

Although this year's golf season wasn't as successful as the players and Coach Cavnar had hoped it to be, everyone enjoyed getting to know the other members and playing a sport for which they all share a common interest.

Smoky Hill Soccer; Best Team In Aurora

This year's soccer team was sensational. The BUFFS beat every team in Aurora. A record of 6-5-2 almost put the BUFFS in the championship but a loss to Overland ended the season. Although the BUFFS didn't make it to the top, coach Wigand said, "It was one of the best, if not the best season we ever had!" The only team that beat the BUFFS by a considerable amount was Cherry Creek, and the score was closer than last year. Star halfback Andy Schaver, working with excellent forwards including Chad Smart, Scott Yale, Kevin Wicks and fullbacks "Bud" Tolentino, and Jim Stringfellow, along with only one goalie, Greg Wilson made the BUFFS hard to beat.

Water Buffs Comeback

The boys swim team began the season with many newcomers. Having graduated many top swimmers, the returning letterman served as the pacesetters for the team. Coach Mike Mason had much to do teaching the incoming swimmers the proper techniques for good swimming. He spent much of the pre-season getting the team ready mentally and physically for the first dual meet.

As the season came to a close, Smoky Hill had many swimmers going to the State Tournament. Don Wilhelm, Rick Wall, and Rod Fernandez were three of the qualifiers again this year. Also going to the state meet were: Chad Lucero, Jim Cox, Mike Baynes and Dave Perlick and Tom Jedrejewicz as team alternates.

Building a program of consistent improvement this year was the goal of the girls basketball team. Smoky Hill saw yet another head coach in the program. With work, Coach Benson feels the team will be a state contender in the near future.

The team's weak spot was experience. Of three seniors, only one had any previous experience, MVP Lori Mineo.

Coach Benson feels the Centennial League is competitive, and the lack of experience showed. The team didn't give up, and played well against tough teams.

Underclassman support has aided the program. Over thirty freshmen played, so a new team was added. They provide the basis to build upon. The freshman/sophomore team showed their potential by finishing well in the league tournament.

The girls basketball program this year focused on building to successful years ahead.

Ice Buffs End Season With A Positive Feeling

What exactly does being on the hockey team mean? Well try this: dedication, practice in the early morning and late night hours and a tremendous amount of injuries. What do the Smoky Hill hockey players benefit from this? A vigorous workout, keeping in shape and the building of team spirit.

It is expected for one person to be exceptional on a team, but for Smoky Hill hockey there are two outstanding players that definitely standout in the league. They are the two top scoring players in the Centenial League, Scott and Todd Simpson. Scott Simpson is a senior, one of the captains, and has played for two years. Todd is a junior, with a great deal of talent and has played for two years. Other talented members are Mike Davis, assistant captain, and the only four-year player; Steve Sword, third highest scorer on the team; and York Brogden, a very good defensive man, and the other captain of the team.

Skating for his first year on the team was Brian Sherman in goal. Throughout the season he improved his goalkeeping with every game.

Smoky Hill hockey is one of the most unusual teams with practices as early as 5a.m. and as late as 12:30a.m., and lasting for only an hour.

Practices includes a lot of skating, scrimmaging and whatever else can get done in an hour.

The team ended their season with a positive feeling by winning their second to last game and "having a first" by shutting out Kent 5-0. The team this year was coached by Mike Lampmann, this third year coaching the Smoky Hill team.

Even though the team had an unsuccessful season, they displayed talent and determination, and with that a lot of spirit and enthusiasm.

Seniors Manage Successful Smoky Hill Wrestling

In all sports at Smoky Hill there is always one person who is not only good but contributes a great deal to the team. The 1982 Smoky Hill Wrestling Team had Andy Lobato, a senior, who wrestled in the 185 weight pound class as this year's outstanding wrestler.

Since Coach Jackel let the seniors lead the team Andy and many other senior teammates have did a great deal to prepare the team for meets they had this year.

This year's wrestling team was so successful because of seniors Bryan Sorge, Robert Roads, Steve Kelly, and Andy Lobato. The juniors' and sophomores' their spirits, efforts and skills played a major roll in all meets.

For the past few years, boys gymnastics has thrived for excellence just as all other Smoky Hill sports. But this year they have finally reached their goal. The team members are hard working and loyal. They have shown their talents and their performance has been great.

Groups Play Important Role at Smoky Hill

Activities . . .
The last bell has rung,
and the halls start to clear,
but the school day isn't over,
and soon there's a sound of cheer.
A club that succeeded with a successful dance,
or the group that took first place,
these organizations give us all a chance-to belong and participate.
To belong to a club . . .
that gives us some pride.
The sense of knowing we helped another-so he didn't have to hide.

The Ski Club was a big success this year with over 175 members. It is a program to provide the cheapest and most economical rates for skiing and to also give students transportation to the ski resorts. "We want to get students involved, whether they have experience or not," commented sponsor Mike Renas.

Ski Club president Dawn Schuller and vice-president Mary Kehl, were in charge of organizing and recruiting new members.

The club also participated in a fundraiser for Multiple Sclorosis that was sponsored by Winter Park. Ski club members received pledges per ski - run to be donated to M. S. Over $2,300 were raised by Smoky Hill skiers, more than any other club that took part in the Ski - A - Thon. We averaged 18.7 runs per person. Eric Bierbach raised the most money, over $200. Mike Harrigan and Derrick Porter also earned a lot of donations for the fundraiser. Mike Renes said that Ski Club is looking forward to skiing for M.S. and hopes to get more pledges next year.

Music Groups Entertain At Smoky Hill

Sopranos, Altos, Tenors, and Basses combined together to make up the choral groups in the Smoky Hill Fine Arts Department.

The groups were conducted by Mr. Paul Kittle who was usually referred to as "P.K." to those who know him. He worked hard to make the best of every rehearsal and would glow with pride after a concert well performed.

The groups consisted of Chamber, Swing, Festival, and the Ninth Grade choir. These fine voices were heard throughout the year at various places such as Stapleton Plaza, Sheriten Inn, a few malls, and of course at school concerts.

"They're a neat bunch of kids" stated Mr. Kittle. A lot of hard work and effort is put into the songs they sing, and because of this teamwork a lot of close friendships evolved.

Not only do the singers make up the Performing Arts Department, but the Chamber Orchestra does too. It is composed of all grade levels and plays a variety of music. They have had a few concerts like the December Concert and the Educational Community Program which was directed toward parents and the community.

"There are many outstanding senior string players within the orchestra," said Mr. Herbert Kress the director.

Buffs Build Band

This is the year of reconstruction for the Big Buff Marching Band, dropping from 150 members to 105. Sixty-five of those members are freshmen which means there is less experience and it takes longer to learn things.

Kim Church, Karen Jones, and Karl Mimmack are this year's student directors. They direct the Buffs to excellence during performances and competitions.

Band director, Joe Brice, is expecting improvements. "This isn't our strongest year, but the future looks good."

The band music for this year is adapted from drum/bugle corps and includes "Pictures In Exhibition Medley", "The Tiger of San Pedro", and arrangement of "Somewhere Over The Rainbow", and a percussion feature of the "Children of Sanchez", by Chuck Mangione.

The 25 member color guard squad, "The Rainbow Connection", under the direction guidance of Penny Shuster add color to the band.

They entertain the fans at halftime, arouse them during the action, and get the students rowdy at pep rallies.

Groups Make Music

This year the Smoky Hill musical groups made us very proud, as always. Whether it was the Jazz Band, the Marching Band or the Flags and Rifles performed during the half time intermission at any of the Smoky Hill games or away at competitions, they showed their talents exceptionally well. The Jazz Band did very well also. They entertained the school with their concerts and also showed their talents exceptionally well.

Smoky Hill was very proud of its musical groups, as always, this year. Our Jazz Band, Marching Band, and Flags and Rifles did exceptionally well. Whether they were away or at home, they showed their pride for their school. We are very proud of you!!

Peer Counselors Serve and Grow

"Getting to know others as well as yourself," this is Peer Counseling.

Peer Counseling consists of two separate goals: one-service to the school and two-personal growth. Students are trained in skills in order to be of service to the school. These skills are taught by counselors during a retreat in the fall and at Monday night classes. Each student is assigned a time to be available in the counseling office for tutoring, orientating new students and personal counseling.

A very important aspect of the course is a student's willingness to learn about himself and the way he relates to other people. One goal is to be the kind of a person others would confide in.

Peer Counselours are people — just like any other people. Their purpose is to learn about themselves and help others.

HILL PRIDE IS . . . a club designed to promote school spirit and pride at SMOKY HILL. Some major activities that the club have been involved in are: the BONFIRE in the fall for the football team; CLASS BUTTONS designed especially for each class; and keeping the concession stand open after school. Although the club was small this year, the members themselves put in a lot of time and effort into each project. THANKS HILL PRIDE for helping "The Hill" be a better place!

The People Past the Print

Behind the copy, beyond the photos, behind the layout lie the brilliant minds of the newspaper and yearbook staffs.

This year's staff was a mixture of faces old and new. Yearbook co-editors Diane Jochim (senior), and Kris Halstrum (sophomore) were two of the familiar people on the staff this year. They worked on layouts using their experience to assist the "greenhorns" with yearbook complications.

Newspaper used several new faces as page editors this year, including Liz Logan on sports, Jill McNeill on arts and Heidi Zwahlen on Features. Kim Gray returned for her second term as newspaper editor.

Yearbook and newspaper sponsor Mike Meagher feels new people are an asset to the staff. "I like working with new people because they have fresh ideas."

These two publications at Smoky Hill have added new dimension to inner-school communications.

Trainers - The Key To Success

The success of Smoky Hill athletes is due to one group of people - the athletic trainers. The staff of eight student trainers, along with head trainer Mr. Morrissey, keep the athletes in working condition.

Student trainers treat only minor injuries. Their major job is to prevent and take care of the injuries as they heal. The experiences obtained through training gives the students an idea of what sports medicine is like. Several of the present trainers are enrolled in classes taught by Mr. Morrissey, such as Band-Aid, Care and Prevention, and Sports Medicine to give them added experience.

The training room is an excellent facility, one of the best in the league, and is jammed before practice every day. Athletes from nineteen sports require proper care.

Buffalo athletes are indeed fortunate to have such an excellent facility and personnel as trainers.

During Smoky Hill's exsistance, DECA has played a major role in teaching Smoky Hill students about marketing and retail distribution. It has allowed DECA members to be directly involved with the business world and gives them a chance to persue and achieve their talents.

Deca is also involved with working in the school store. By doing fund-raising activities such as selling spook insurance, selling Christmas candles and other various activities. They have raised enough money to participate in ski trips.

Distributive Education students involved in DECA compete with other schools in Districts, State and National competition are selling techniques and marketing and distribution.

We congratulate DECA on the good job they did in helping themselves and the people in our community.

Artists Create Images of Past, Present, Future

Creativity is images of the present and challenges of the future. Many Smoky Hill students have had the desire to create and communicate in some artistic form. The essence of the Creative Arts Department is to help students become more imaginative- to reach their creative potential and, of course, to develop their unique talents. The Smoky Hill Art program has helped students learn how to express themselves through the art work they produce. Art is becoming recognized as a popular everyday class.

One of the many activities involved in art is National Art Honor Society. NAHS has many talented artists this year. Kathy Spence, who is the President, has had the desire to make the club creative and interesting. The reflections of the arts has heightened and has improved considerably. NAHS has been headed by Penny Bunn for some time, and she has contributed greatly to the Art Department. Overall, Creativity and talent has been important to the artists. Enthusiastic artists also bring on spirit and pride in this seventh year of art on the Hill.

FBLA leads the way at Smoky Hill

This year's Future Business Leaders of America club had 28 members. Nine of these members were officers: Richard Quincy as president; Stephanie Pankoff, vice-president; Amy Rubenstein, secretary; Sherry Lenig, treasurer; Tim Griswald and Benita Martinez, historians; Kelly Brown, activities director; Pam Montoya, reporter; and Jim Kone as parliamentarian.

On February 3 all the members went to the district conference at Arapahoe High School. Once there they set up in the categories of competition. Accounting, poster design, speaking, parliamentary procedures, and typing are a few of the different areas of competition. This year quite a few people made it to the State conference to be held at the Broadmoor on March 2 and 3.

Some of the Future Business Leaders of America's activities were the sale of jewelry, puzzles, and calendars. They also had a talent show for the patients at Denver General Hospital.

This club also ran the marriage-divorce booth at the Key Club carnival. Most of FBLA's success was due to their sponsor, Kim Grunswald.

At their talent show Cammy Wood, Kelly Brown, and Annette Smith performed to the record CHIPMUNK Punk, Richard Quincy did magic acts, and Jim Kone set up one-act plays.

Smoky Hill Theatre Inherits The Wind

As well as being the opening production for the 1981-82 theatre season, ''Inherit the Wind'' was a show of firsts.

For one thing, it was the first show directed by Jeff Harms at Smoky Hill. Mr. Harms encouraged all the actors to not be afraid to be too loud, or too ''big'' on stage. With this positive reinforcement, the show was a great success!

''Inherit the Wind'' was also the first show at Smoky Hill for many of the actors. For Marcus Martin, who held the role of Henry Drummond, ''Inherit the Wind'' was his first show ever! Other first - timers at Smoky Hill were: Stacey Rosenbaum (E.K. Hornbeck), Pat King (Bert Cates), and Dene Daggett (Rachel Brown).

With plenty of hard work from all involved, ''Inherit the Wind'' was a crowed - pleasing opening to the Smoky Hill theatre season.

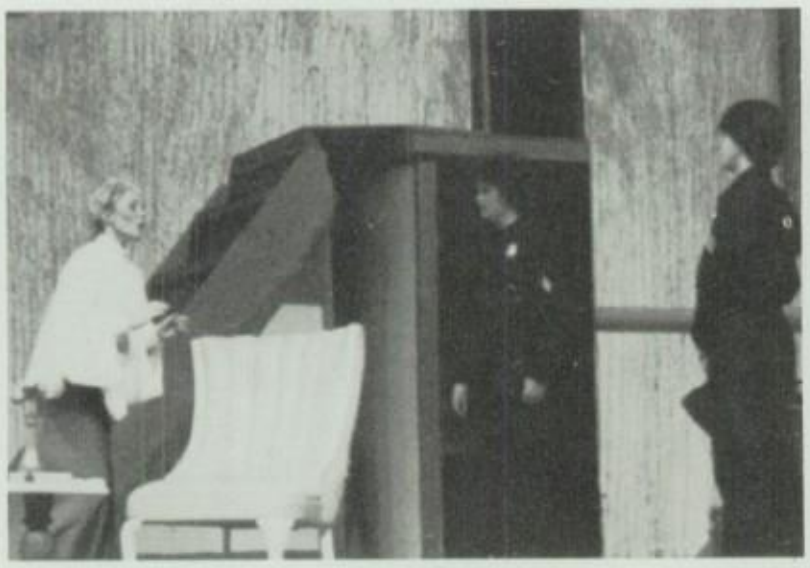
MARTHA (LESLIE STEINMAN) enters to find officers Klein (Mike Gates), and Brophy (Nate Tafoya) visiting (below).



On February 4,5,6, the Smoky Hill Theatre Ensemble carried on a tradition of quality in presenting a comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace." As the second production of the year, this performance had to follow the precedent set by previous productions.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" is the tale of two charming old women, (Abby and Martha Brewster) who have some . . . um . . . peculiarities. They poison lonely old men as a "charity," and bury them in the cellar. The plot thickens when long-lost newphew Jonathan re-enters the scene with a cadaver of his own. The plot has spirit, humor, and a touch of suspense.

The cast of "Arsenic and Old Lace" consisted of mainly theatre veterans. The cast included: Leslie Steinman as Martha, Jill McNeill as Abby, Joe Utsler as Mortimer, Mike Goldenberg as Dr. Einstein, Stacy Rosenbaum as Elaine, Sam Griesbaum as Teddy, and Marcus Martin as Jonathan.

With direction by Jeff Harms and Brenda Faatz. The show was a success!

Smoky Hill Talks its Way To The Top!!

Imagine what it is like taking a class where you are allowed to, if not encouraged, to argue! Speech and Debate class is such a place. The only difference doing it in a class is that you compete with another person over what you are talking about. For example, one category, Extemporaneous Speaking, deals with making an impromptu speech. During a meet you are allowed to pick one of three pieces of paper. The one you get is your subject for your speech. Next you go for thirty minutes and collect data, sort through it, and write a five-minute speech.

How do you remember this speech? You write it on a 5x7 notecard! The final speech is then presented.

Speech and debate may be for you. As a class it prepares you for writing speeches that your audience will understand and gives you practice in delivering these speeches.

Other categories to choose from in a meet are the following: duet acting, drama, poetry, debate, and original oratory.

The sponsor for these activities is Mr. Mark Onstott. He puts a lot into his debate team and class. He makes it a habit to work with each person individually. The time he spends doing this job runs well past school time. The meets are usually held on Saturdays and they can be anywhere from Golden to here at Smoky Hill.

Speech and Debate truly breaks away from others!

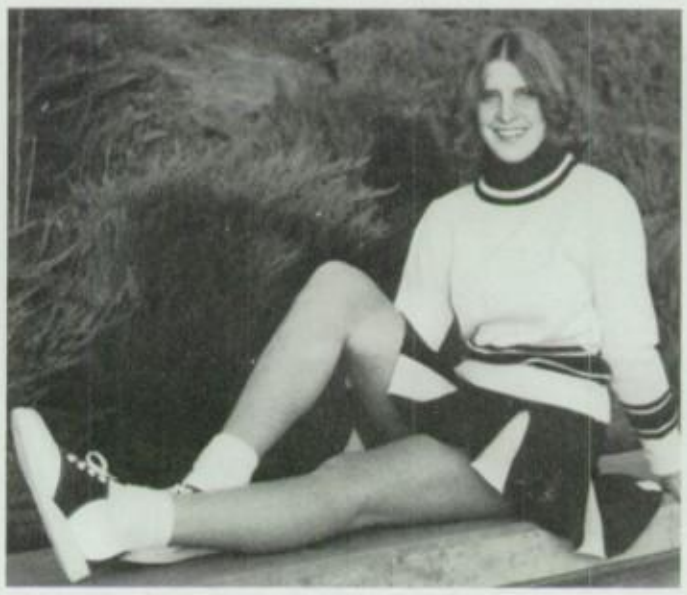
Poms: Keepin' It All Together!



1981 - 1982 SMOKY HILL POM PON SQUAD: Six to ten girls consisting of seniors, juniors and sophomores. Basically they are cheerleaders that dance to show spirit, pride and leadership. These girls are dedicated five days a week, two and a half to three hours daily. After all this hard work and tough practicing, they perform halftimes at varsity basketball games. They are an important part of SMOKY HILL HIGH SCHOOL.

Many Involved

This year Smoky Hill divided the cheerleaders into fall and winter seasons. They were also divided into three different squads. This was something new the cheerleaders and sponsors, Mr. Howell and Mrs. Bevard all felt was successful.

The first tryouts were in April and 24 girls were picked.

The second try-outs were in November and there were also 24 picked.

There were also cheerleaders for lacrosse, which consisted of cheerleaders from both fall and winter.

The fall squads cheered for football, soccer, girls volleyball, and girls swimming.

The winter squads cheered for boys and girls basketball, wrestling, boys swimming and ice hockey.

Your Mind
The time you take to learn is knowledge locked away and what you study to understand
no one can give away.
Learning is a measure that gives awareness from day to day, and it never comes very easy - it's better to work before you play.
The things that make this world
what it is,
aren't so easy to understand but apply yourself to learn,
work,
and really comprehend.

It is rare to find a student at Smoky Hill that has not used at least one of the resource centers. There are six resource centers which include: Social Studies, English, Math, Science, Business, and Foreign Language. The centers contain resource materials and instructional hardware. The facilities vary at the different centers. Students can use a computer in the Math Resource Center, type in the Business Resource Center or even make up a language lab in the Foreign Language Resource Center. Besides providing many services, the centers can sometimes be the only place to escape distractions and do some studying.

Smoky Hill High Schol has one of the finest, if not the finest, science departments in the state. We break away from the others when it comes to our teachers. There are ten teachers in this department. The coordinator is Jim Zinck. Mr. Zinck teaches IPS. Ms. Claire Caro teaches IPS along with Biology One. Biolgoy One is also taught by Anne Tweed, James Pardikes, and Billy Williams. Mrs. Tweed also teaches Environmental Science and is the teacher for MAL Science. Mr. Williams teaches A.P. Billogy along with Biology one. Our chemistry teachers are Dave Pinkerton and Debbie Hart. Mr. Pinkerton also teaches the advanced placement chemistry course and Ms. Hart teaches General Chemistry. Kenneth Fox teaches all the physics classes. Mr. Charles Chorn teaches General Science and IPS. One of the newer members of the science department is Dave Tumey. He teaches Astronomy, Geology, and Earth Science.

Each and every one of these teachers offers a unique facet of their personality to their jobs. Mr. Williams is one of these individuals. This year could very well be his last year teaching. He plans to retire at the end of this year. He also feels we have one of the best high school departments because of its good staff. If Mr. Williams does retire upon completion of this year Smoky Hill will lose one of its finest teachers. But whatever he decides to conquer next we wish him the best of luck and continued success.

MR. WILLIAMS helps Tricia Park on her lab.

New Teachers, Ideas Help English Dept.

This year's English Department welcomed some new members and some new ideas as well. Judy Gardner, Pat Johnson and Pat Puckett joined the department, Puckett as the new coordinator. These along with some of our old favorites like Perry Weissman, Mike Meagher, Jim Kettlehut, Jill Parrish and many others helped to make up a well - rounded group.

There were also some new ideas introduced into the department this year. Teachers did more testing than ever in an attempt to diagnose students' needs better; mastery learning was used in some classes; teachers tried to individualize as much as possible (not an easy task when there are 30 or more students in a class); and computers and visual aids were used to help those who needed remedial aid.

1981-82 was a year of continued improvement for the English Department.

In Smoky Hill's Business Department students have a chance to learn more about shorthand, notehand, typing, business law and much more. It enables the student to learn more about balancing a check book, figuring out income tax and even making payments on a new car.

In Business Law and Business English students are taught about the laws of the state and the certain consequences involved.

A club involved with Business is FBLA or future Business Leaders of America. It participates in nationwide contests and district competition in secretarial business. It gives its club members a chance to actually test their abilities.

Math Joins Computer Age

This year's Smoky Hill Math Department, headed by Bob Hiester, expanded its program, with emphasis on computer training. They offered computer training at all levels starting with a beginners course to a creative computer course. The computers not only trained students for technical jobs, but the computers were used in other math courses to facilitate learning.

The Math Department introduced a new program which allowed speakers from different technical fields to speak to the math classes, hoping to get students interested and involved in technical jobs.

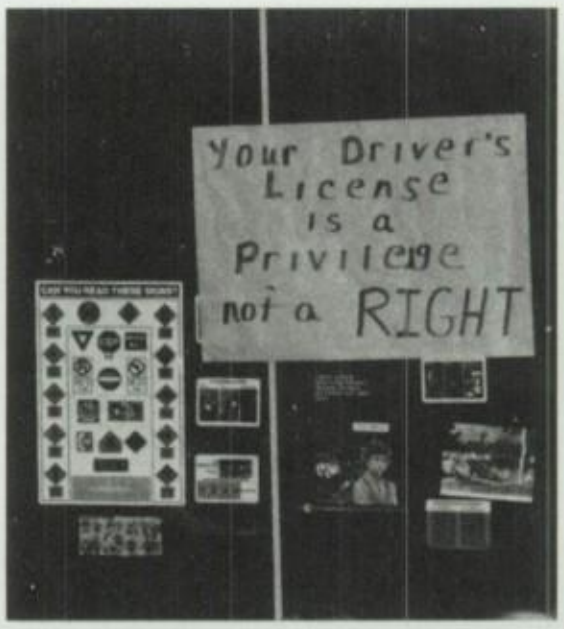
Driver's Ed: Driver's Safety

Driver's Education was designed to teach students the laws and rules of driving. This year's Driver's Education has gone a step further. It has brought in speakers to tell the students about subjects such as, driving while intoxicated, the process gone through after being ticketed and speakers from Craig Rehabilitation center to tell about accident victims.

The Driver's Education course includes 30 hours of class, three hours spent on simulators, and three hours of actual driving on the driving range. There is a cost of $75.00 that goes to pay for gas, teachers' pay and materials. The class is a very good preparation for students preparing for driver's licenses.



"YOUR DRIVERS LICENSE is a Privilege Not a Right", hangs in the room with the traffic signs. Jo Kissinger teaches the students the rules of the road. Drivers Education students listen closely to their instructor.

This year's Creative Arts Department was organized much differently than last year. Since Mr. Cunningham, the department coordinator and drafting teacher retired, Mr. Craven the auto teacher, replaced him. Since Mr. Craven no longer teaches auto, Mr. Sigafoose who was on sabbadical took Mr. Craven's place.

Another important figure in the Creative Arts Department is Ms. Bunn the art teacher who arranged monthly art shows which included exhibits at the State Department of Education. The art gallery in the upstairs hall was also Ms. Bunn's idea. These few events are only a small example of the teachers and happenings that made this year's Creative Arts Department what it is.

Something New

The Day Care Center at Smoky Hill is part of the Home Arts section which is something many people don't know. The people in charge of this are Mrs. Harmon and Mrs. Horton. The children at the day care center are in the age range of 3-4 years old. In the child care classes people really work with the kids and learn what it is like to be a parent. If you haven't seen the children in the day care center but would like to get to know them, take the child care class. You'll love it!

Acting: Easier Said Than Done

Acting takes a lot of hard work and dedication, just ask any of Jeff Harms' students this year. Smoky Hill offers five theatre arts classes, and their focus ranges from stage acting as in "Acting" and "Intro to Theatre," to other aspects of theatre such as "Directing," "Technical Theatre," and "Musical Theatre."

Many students are under the impression that Fine Arts classes are "Easy A's." Nothing could be farther from the truth! Mr. Harms believes in teaching theatre classes as regular classes - complete with written papers and tests. Theatre classes have application for later life. Theatre teaches students discipline, composure, and creativity. By having to memorize lines, and block scenes, students are forced to realize that anything requires concentration.

Although Fine Arts classes involve a lot of work, they are a terrific learning experience and loads of fun!

Foreign Language

Foreign Language is available to all students. To help understand a particular language, a helpful lab is open to students. In the lab, earphones and carrells are used to help students better comprehend the language they're studying. To do this, students listen to dictation tapes which allow a more realistic experience.

The Foreign Language Coordinator, Ms. Ann Whiskeyman, is trying to make the Foreign Language Department exciting and fun for everyone. "I think we have a fantastic department," she said. There are seven foreign language teachers. Tamara Bauer teaches Latin, Judith Frei, Ann Whiskeyman and Joanne Thompson teach Spanish; there's one German teacher - Hartwig Kinzli, and two French teachers, Dr. Susan Hill and Karen Schaefer. All of these teachers have done a great job in making foreign language a success. "I think Smoky Hill is a top notch school and I'm proud to be here," Whiskeyman concluded.

A MAJOR TEST is coming up, make sure you study!

The Social Studies Department here at Smoky Hill is something more than just another group of classes. It is a group of classes, but it includes classes that are unique. They range from the well known U.S. History to the not so well known Local History and World Religion. The social studies classes are popular and well liked classes. The variety of classes offered at Smoky Hill is probably one of the reasons why Social Studies is so popular. So, if you're wondering what to take in your extra space next year, try a Social Studies class.

This year's Smoky Hill library staff jumped into the school year with a whole different outlook than in previous years. One of the major changes made by the library this year was the elimination of fines. Librarian Judy Hansen said, "Fines are a punishment. We don't want to punish the students, we just want our materials back."

Another concept was tried this year. The library staff turned the library into more of a study area than a gossip area. The "study area concept" was followed through by adding a magazine room which contained a news bank, micro fish computer for student use and a new photo copier. The news bank contained back issues of many newspaper articles for student reference.

The Smoky Hill library and media center was better than ever in 1981-82.

Reading Program

A new teacher at Smoky Hill this year is Mrs. Pat Johnson, the reading teacher. She came here from Oklahoma. Mrs. Johnson's classes are unique. Her philosophy revolves around taking the students as far as he or she can go. She prefers smaller classes because it provides for a closer teacher/student relationship. She provides time for both independent and group work, but feels that it encourages the students self confidence if they work alone.

Smoky Hill Program Provide Alternatives

Smoky Hill offers many different kinds of Off Campus programs. One unique course is called Work Experience, where students break away from the ordinary school life. In this program the students are surrounded by a work setting which exposes them to the world of work.

"This is to see what it is like to work and get along with fellow co-workers," stated Mr. Campbell the sponsor for this program.

This program has been designed for the student who finds it difficult to deal with the problems of school. The students go to work after their classes and not only get paid, but also get a credit!

ANYONE FOR FRIES? Is what Mike Crites seems to be asking.

HOLLY FRIGGE IS hard at work for the Farmer's Insurance firm.

Students Prepare For The Future

Oh no! What am I going to do after graduation? This is a common question almost every student is faced with. The College Career Center (C.C.C.) is one of the places where you can find an answer.

The C.C.C. is run by Ms. June Wagner who is always ready to give advice and information.

The C.C.C. is open to all grades, although, it is usually occupied by juniors and seniors who are acquiring information on certain colleges they wish to attend. It is filled with many job and college descriptions for those who need it.

Home Arts . . . More Than You Think

When most people hear the phrase "Home Arts," they think of the basic cooking and sewing. Well, at Smoky Hill, we have more than just cooking and sewing. We also have other classes such as Advanced Cooking classes. Here we also offer classes such as Day Care and a class called Wilderness Survival.

In the Day Care class you will have the experience of working with the children we have here.

In Wilderness Survival, you will learn how to survive if you are ever lost and alone. You will learn what to bring along and how to prepare foods to take along with you.

Whether it is a Sewing or Cooking class or a Day Care or Wilderness Survival class, there is a "Home Arts" class for you.

PREPARING THEIR RECIPE, Kris Hillman, Jennifer Reifel and Nan Smith have fun in Foreign Foods.

Math Can Be Fun

Along with the regular math classes, Smoky Hill also offers a computer class. In this class, students will learn how to use the computers and how to program them. It is a learning class as well as a fun class. Students get to work with the computers almost every day. One of the computers used is the well known Apple II. Many of the students feel it is one of the most pleasurable math classes.

Shorter Prime Time: A Positive Change

After a slow first year, students seemed to resent Prime Time less this year. Part of the reason for the change of attitude was the shortening of the communication period from fifteen minutes to ten minutes. The leftover five minutes is a morning break in addition to the five minute passing period.

Both teachers and students seemed to appreciate the cut. Ten minutes was shown to be plenty of time for announcements and filling out frequent surveys, and excess time was cut out.

Communication between student government and the student body seemed to improve this year. More information was relayed through the representatives.

After a rocky initiation last year, Prime Time has improved to become more useful; and these positive changes may lead to others in the future.

Those Coffee Breaks Are Well-Deserved

"Working in a school is unique - interesting, out of the ordinary, and different every day," says Lynda Englert, Dr. Eversley's secretary. She keeps the main office and all its projects operating smoothly.

There is a total of 37 secretaries, clerks, and aides, scattered throughout the building. These people work in many different jobs, from the Records Office to the Media Center to the College Career Center, including the bookkeeper and switchboard operator. In addition, each department and resource center has an aide.

The various area offices have specific functions. Area 1 takes care of off-campus classes and student schedules. Area 2 handles discipline and attendance. Counselors are found in Area 3. Activities and athletics are monitored by Area 4.

The secretaries help keep our school and its activities planned and organized.

Principals View 'Breaking Away'

This year Smoky Hill's principals had a brief respite from the hassles of overcrowding, but 250-300 more students are predicted for next year and the trend is expected to continue. Head Principal, Dr. Eric Eversley, along with assistant principals, John Buckner (Instructional and Student Services), Don Groves (Operations and Fiscal Services), and Dr. William C. Larson (Athletics and Activities) are already developing plans to deal with the growth and still provide quality education.

As Smoky Hill gradually changes to a more traditional structure, its principals will continue to make sure the curriculum and school policies are able to produce graduates that are adaptable, independent and sufficiently educated to cope in the technological revolution.

Breaking Away . . .
Dr. Eversley: The seniors separation from school.

Dr. Larson: There is a declining enrollment in group sports and an increasing enrollment in individual sports.

Mr. Groves: Breaking away from individuality into groups; the "me" generation to the "us"

Mr. Buckner: Breaking away from groups to individuality.

Smoky Hill, Cherry Creek District

Led By District Personalities

The heart of every school district is its central administration. The Cherry Creek District has two respected and capable men . . . Dr. Donald Koeppe and Dr. Richard Goe.

Dr. Goe says that to him "Breaking Away" means leaving home, and high school should help prepare kids for that. Breaking away is a positive term to Dr. Koeppe, meaning breaking from boredom and apathy. As for the school district he says it means breaking away from the norms, to set new and higher standers.

Dr. Koeppe feels that the major goals for the district are to teach students to cope with change by teaching them not only the answers, but the questions as well. Dr. Goe feels that the district should teach the students a style of learning that will make them productive for society and for themselves.

Deans Fair and Consistent

Doris Baldwin; the Dean of freshmen and sophomores.

Herb Wilson; the Dean of juniors and seniors.

Mr. Wilson and Mrs. Baldwin are the Deans of Smoky Hill. Both Deans have Masters in Counseling and Guidance, which helps with dealing with students on a one to one basis. This is Mrs. Baldwin's second year in charge of freshmen and sophomores. She is also the sponsor of the junior class. Our other Dean, Mr. Wilson, is in charge of the juniors and seniors. Mr. Wilson has been with Smoky Hill for six years. The first three years he was a counselor, and during the past three he has been a Dean. He is a sponsor of Peer Counseling and he is the after school strength Coach. Mr. Wilson feels that it is important to have the trust of the students. From this the students know that they are being treated fair and there is a consistency in the disipline with every group in the school.

Counseling Department Goes Through New Changes

A new set of changes have come about in the counseling area this year. The division of last names so that each counselor deals with a certain section of the alphabet is one new system. Sandy Nearpass, one of the seven counselors, feels that this new structured system gives students a better feeling.

Lee Bender is the new Department Chairman in the counselling area. His job is to keep an eye on everything, and he is the link between the counselors and the rest of the school.

Phoebe Busch is a teacher that takes teaching seriously. She teaches Western Civilization and Sociology with goals for her students to learn to survive and be well educated in this world. Phoebe has been teaching at Smoky Hill for seven years and said that the school has changed over the years. She likes this school year because the student population is smaller and most of the teachers have there own classroom. When asked what Breaking Away meant to her she stated "Sometimes this school doesn't help the student break away and should give students more opportunity to make decision for themselves."

Phoebe has many hobbies that she enjoys such as traveling and learning different languages.

CLAIRE CARO looks to see if she got any mail and looks like she did.

"YES, CAN I HELP YOU?" seems to be what Phoebe Busch is asking.

Claire Caro went to the Colorado University to major in Biological Science, Microbiology and got a Scholarship to the University of Vienna for an Honorary Diploma before she became an active teacher for Smoky Hill. She's been teaching here at Smoky Hill for five years and says that her teaching has changed over the years. Claire said that she has a unique way of teaching and stated that "Everybody needs to know about the body?" Since she has been at Smoky Hill, Clair has been involved in two trips to Hawaii and participated in a Cousteau project in the Pacific.

During the summer months Claire enjoys training and showing her Golden retriever "Sunshine" and "Sam".

Reaganomics: How Does It Affect Us?

World wide recession broke existing economic standards and affected us in many ways this year. These changes brought increased prices to the things we buy most.

Seniors felt the pinch with increases in graduation announcements and class ring prices. These rings now range from $65.00 to $165.00, and the announcements cost between thirty and forty dollars. College educations have also gotten more expensive. Many private schools now charge about ten thousand dollars per year as tuition, while public institutions are less expensive.

Other students felt inflation in the areas of food prices and recreation. The going rate for a candy bar is thirty-five cents, while a pack of gum costs about twenty-five cents. Lunch at Burger King can cost quite a bit, with a hamburger running fifty cents.

Skiing is a popular sport, but an expensive one. Lift tickets range from $16 dollars at Loveland to 22 dollars at Vail and Aspen. Movie and concert prices also rose. A hit movie could cost five dollars a ticket.

What caused all this inflation? No one knows for sure. President Reagan issued his budget proposals to Congress that were later passed. High national debts and interest rates were the main targets. At one time, these rates were 22%, but have now fallen to 16%. Reaganomics has helped some, but bigger cuts were on the way. The economic recovery will take much longer than planned.

The recessions our nation and country faces has influence on all our lives, especially this year's dramatic rise and fall of prices.

or Break a Great Year

Each year has its unique fads and crazes. This one has been one of changing tastes and styles.

From cubes to Walkman headphones, something for everyone could be found. Games, like hackey sack amused upper classmen in Area I and outside. The cubes prevailed in areas III and IV. Each game provided entertainment for the group it appealed to.

Walking down the halls of our school, it was possible to see many different styles of clothing represented. Preps were back, this time with more members and new additives, such as loafers and polo shirts, and don't forget those wool scarves. Punkers also made their presence known with more wild attire than before. These classic groups were joined by such new items as knickers and leg warmers. Such diversity provided a year that has been unequaled.

Fads prevailed throughout the year, making this season different from any other.

This was Smoky Hill's second Senior Talent Show. Even though the talent show was long and had a lack of organization, the audience was entertained. In the show there were a lot of good acts like Battle of the Go-Go's; Buffs Nuts Minus Four Ballet; One Last Chance Band; a solo by Kim Holmes; Little Nimox and the Swing Choir.

To be in the talent show, the act must have had at least one senior performing in it, and it must have passed the Senior Talent Show Committee's auditions.

Mr. Fox was this year's sponsor.
